Report of the Board President Lynn Barrett

BCTV—Charting New Directions

For the last four years, I have had the privilege of serving as President of BCTV's Board of Directors. During my tenure, we've made tremendous strides in a number of areas including upgrades in technology and equipment, new logo, new website and improved community outreach efforts.

With a recently signed agreement with Southern Vermont Cable, and last year's renewal with Comcast, we are now officially representing the citizens and towns of Brattleboro Guilford, Vernon, Putney, Dummerston, Newfane, Townshend and Jamaica, Vermont.

A major undertaking this year was the development of our new website—brattleborotv.org—that I'm privileged to officially unveil tonight. The website offers live streaming of channels 8 and 10, as well as video on demand. Local viewers may have witnessed the value of these services during the throes and aftermath of Tropical Storm Irene. BCTV served as a vital source of live reports and online video, as well as working with the town to communicate emergency and key safety information.

The world is changing. The way community members get and share information is undergoing dramatic change. BCTV needs to remain relevant in a world of hi tech and social media. The market for grants and sponsorships is more competitive than ever due to a poor economy. PEG access has a "blurry" image.

As we look ahead to the coming year, my efforts will be focused on increasing the awareness and image of BCTV, along with board development, and fundraising. I will continue to oversee our upgrades in equipment, and user-friendly technology, including enhanced training opportunities, and new local programming—especially to engage youth and seniors. As we move to fulfill our goal of becoming a true community media center, I will also be overseeing the design and building a new studio set.

I encourage everyone in our community -- individuals, non-profits, local businesses, farmers, artists, entrepreneurs, writers etc., to take advantage of the tools and training that BCTV offers, so that you can produce your own stories and share them with your neighbors and the world at large.

Let me also take this opportunity to thank all of our volunteers, sponsors, producers, members and especially the staff and our executive director, Cor Trowbridge.

Very cordially,

Lynn Barrett

Message from the Executive Director Cor Trowbridge

At the end of last year's annual meeting, we announced two goals for the upcoming year – one was to create a new website for BCTV with online access to programming, and the other was to negotiate a new contract with Southern Vermont Cable Company. I am happy to report that both goals were met simultaneously six months later in March 2011. The website we are formally launching tonight went live on March 7 with a home-page post announcing a new agreement that allows Southern Vermont Cable subscribers to receive BCTV Channels 8 & 10 and full public access services.

brattleboroTV.org

The process of creating a website with live streaming and video-on-demand required the expertise and collaboration of a wide array of talented people whose dedication to the project made it work: site designers Chris Grotke and Lise LePage of MuseArts, IT guru Tom Woodbury of Woodbury Solutions, the tech guys at TelVue (makers of our broadcast server & VOD interface), and BCTV board members Lynn Barrett and Tim

Wessel. None of this could have happened without the determination and ingenuity of BCTV staff, as the project required the reconfiguration of most of our computer systems and daily workflow, which now includes posting links to the website and social media platforms.

That's me with a camera in the background, while Vlasta helps Roland set up for "5:45 Live" from September Gallery Walk. BCTV's new banner is on display.

BCTV won a widely-publicized struggle before the State to provide public access to SVC subscribers, an achievement made possible with the assistance of attorney and BCTV supporter Jim Maxwell, and residents of SVC towns who were willing to state publicly their desire for local programming created by and for them.

As Lynn writes, BCTV is charting new directions for this year, which include renovating the studio and allocating more hours to creating timely productions. The success of Roland Boyden's "5:45 Live" news show, started on his own initiative in May, has demonstrated that we are on the right track for this community. I'll see you on the news!

Financial Statement

BCTV provides local programming to over 4,700 Comcast subscriber households in Brattleboro, Guilford and Vernon; and to 2,000 Southern VT Cable subscribers in Putney, Dummerston, Jamaica, Townshend, and Newfane through an agreement effective 6/1/11. This year's financial statement reflects the addition of designated capital funds through BCTV's agreement with Comcast negotiated last year.

Members

BCTV had 155 members in FY11, the same membership as the past few years. Any resident of Windham County may become a member of BCTV. There is no fee for membership, though a $5.00 donation is suggested and often exceeded. Members are eligible to vote at any meeting of the membership, run for election to the BCTV board of directors, attend video production trainings to become certified to use BCTV equipment and facilities, and sponsor programming. Individuals under 18 may become members if their parents assume responsibility by co-signing.

The number of local producers who submitted programming to BCTV in 2010-11 decreased to 48 producers from 60 the previous year. Their names are listed below, followed by the number of programs they submitted. This list includes those who edited footage shot by someone else.

Volunteer Hours:

BCTV tracks volunteer hours to measure the organization's overall contribution to the community. Producers who volunteer their time to create local programming are included in the chart below.

Type of Volunteering	# Volunteer Hours
Crewing for BCTV productions	322
Board of Directors & Committee meetings	260
Producing: Field Work	1367
Producing: Editing	1991
Total Hours	3,940

Training

Video Production Training - BCTV offers a training series in the Fall, Winter and Spring. Individual “flash certification,” in which a staff member provides a quick orientation to camera controls, has increased in popularity. This type of streamlined training at the level of the individual is an efficient method for getting producers out in the field quickly, but BCTV will continue to offer a more in-depth option for those who want a greater foundation of knowledge.

- Basic Video Production: 4-hour training covers how to operate a video camera, basic composition and lighting techniques, how to record good audio, and pre- and post-production planning.
- Editing with Final Cut: 4-hour training to learn the basics of Final Cut Pro, including capturing footage, cutting, as well as adding transitions, special effects, titles and audio tracks.
- Basic Studio Production: 4-hour training introduces the technical and conceptual skills to produce or crew on a program in BCTV’s studio and control room. Offered on demand.
- Custom/Individual Trainings: BCTV accommodates requests for on-site trainings for nonprofit groups and individuals to learn the skills necessary to shoot under specific conditions.
- Workshops: Single-session workshops include Video Uploading and DVD Authoring.

Fiscal Year	Group Trainings Held	Individual “Flash Certification”	Total Trainees	# Certified
09-10	10	11	55	49
10-11	9	21	40	35

Summer Youth Video Camp - Youth video camp continues to be a fun and exciting addition to the BCTV environment. The first week-long session had 5 campers, age 11-13, who created a werewolf video called “Dash.” The second session had 10 campers ages 9-11, who created a video about cloning called “Double Trouble.”

Week 1: Kyra takes the Canon Vixia to tape the graveyard scene from “Dash.”

Week 2: Scientists Silas & Joe create “Clone Mist” with their eccentric lab assistant, Liam.

Equipment Use

The major change in equipment use this year was the establishment of dedicated field and studio equipment. Three aging Sony PD-170s were assigned to the studio and Selectboard room, while producers checked out one of 5 field kits consisting of a camera, tripod and accessories. Two new, smaller HD Canon Vixias became popular for handheld capturing and for productions with relatively simple audio requirements. Use of editing stations continues to climb as editors become more self-sufficient. This year's capital budget will be focused on renovating the Studio.

Camera Use - Hours	10-11	09-10	% change
Sony 900-1	47	145	-67.6
Sony 950	28	64	-56.3
PD 170-1	79	61	29.5

Facilities Use - Hours	10-11	09-10	Change %
Editing Station 2: Producers	1119	1112	0.6
Editing Station 3: Producers	872	742	17.5
Editing Station 4: Interns	124	New use
BCTV Studio	290	204	29.7
Total	2405	2058	29.2

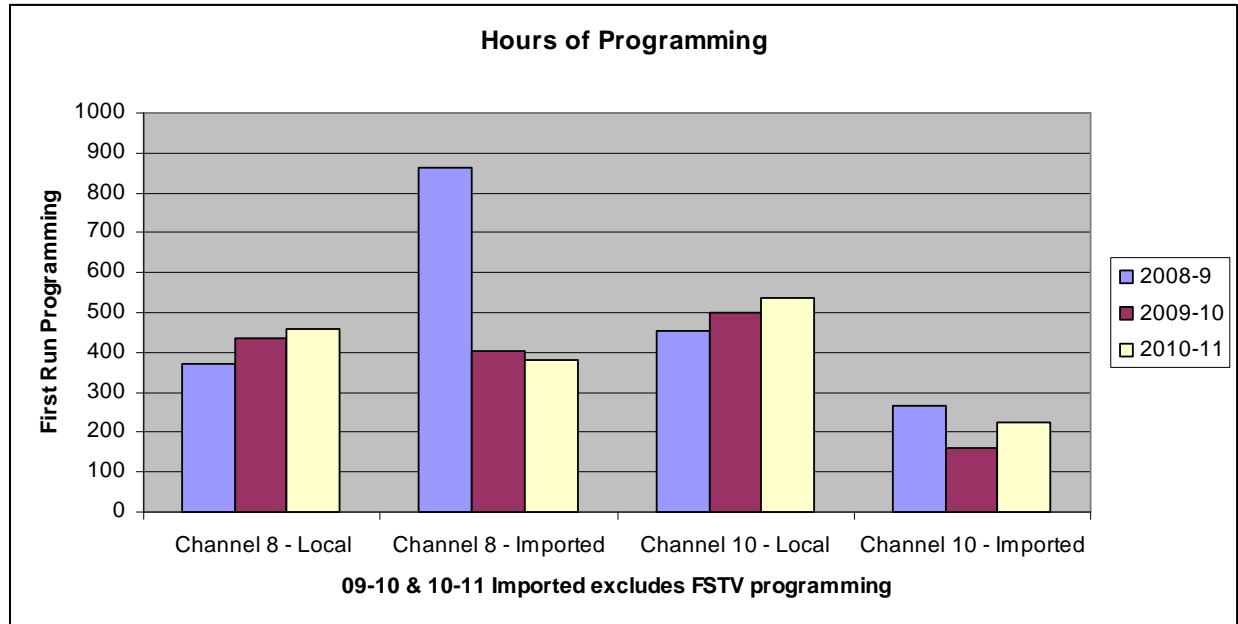

Though the BCTV Studio is busier than ever as a facility for trainings (left) and studio productions (below), it is in need of a major renovation.

Programming

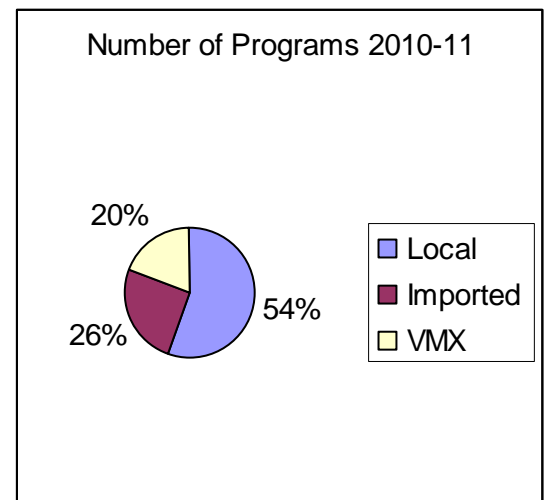

Hours of first-run local programming on BCTV increased an average of 6% this year on both channels. Imported programming increased 40% on Channel 10 because there were more programs available on the Vermont Media Exchange from other VT access stations. Programming from Free Speech TV, a nonprofit satellite channel, and is excluded from these figures.

Hours of "First Run" Programming	2010-11 Hours: Mins: Secs	Change from 09-10
Channel 8 – Local	459:55:24	5.0
Channel 8 – Imported (excludes FSTV)	381:25:27	-5.5
Channel 10 – Local	537:14:00	7.2
Channel 10 – Imported (excludes FSTV)	223:51:31	40.9
TOTAL	1602:26:22	6.7

Type of Programming: The number and percentage of local programs increased significantly on both channels because of more short, frequent programs such as BUHS-TV and the 5:45 Live news show. When Channel 10 was made available to Southern VT Cable subscribers this spring, all of BCTV's government and educational programming was shifted to that channel.

Number of Programs	2009-10	2010-11	% change
Channel 8 - Local	466	652	40
Channel 8 - Imported	410	399	-3
Channel 8 - VMX	157	200	27
Channel 10 - Local	176	376	114
Channel 10 - Imported	69	80	16
